DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-7, 46-58 in the reply filed on July 23, 2007 is acknowledged.

The species of election is Claims 8 and 15-26 has been canceled. Claims 9-14, 27-45 have been withdrawn from consideration per 37 CFR 1.142(b).

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7, 46-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Krushinski et al. US 6,777,428 in view of King.

Determination of the scope and content of the prior art (MPEP §2141.01)

Krushinski et al. '428 disclosed structural analogous compounds for the same utility of 5HT1f receptor activity. A specific compound analogous to the instantly elected species is disclosed at col. 46, lines 63-65, compound 64.

Ascertainment of the difference between the prior art and the claims (MPEP §2141.02)

The difference between the prior art compound is that the prior art compound used a phenyl piperidine keton core while the instant claims are drawn to compounds having pyridinyl piperidine keton core. King taught that bioisosteric replacement of moieties is a prima facie obvious modification of a drug since bioisosteric design is conventionally known to produce active compounds without affecting the biochemical binding ability.

Finding of prima facie obviousness—rational and motivation (MPEP§2142-2143)

One having ordinary skill in the art in possession of the above references would be motivated to modify the known compound with a bioisosteric replacement because such modification is well within the skill of conventional chemical technique with an anticipated success predicted by the design choice of functional equivalent ring systems (see King p.208 table 1 benzene vs pyridine rings). The modification of a proven compound with conventional skill which is expected to produce similar activity consistent with the expectation of the intended modification is prima facie obvious.

3. Claims 1-7, 46-58 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,777,428 alone or in view of Blanco et al. US 20060211734 claims 1-8.

The same rational as delineated supra in section 2 is also applicable here. The broadened scope of R3 being pyrazole is also an art recognized teaching of the copending 20060211734.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).
